

Here We Go Here We Go

Contributed by David L

After a few patchy performances so far this season I reckon that the Swannies are finally back on track and from here on will produce the sort of consistent ly good results that we are used to.

I suspect that the problems so far this year have really been about getting their heads right. A few good years can stop players being as hungry as they should be but a few good kicks in the backside have given the boys the wake up call they needed.

From here on its going to be all good so here we go here we go here we go Swannies.
